

New from Bethel Leader and

EXCERPT

Many times throughout the Bible, God told one of His servants that He would be with him. Sometimes the Bible describes it this way: "The Spirit of the Lord came upon" that person. Once I made a list of every such encounter recorded in Scripture. I found an interesting truth: that whenever the Lord said He would be with someone, it meant that person had just been given an impossible assignment.

God gave such a promise to Moses. It was connected to his assignment to lead Israel out of Egypt and out of the Pharaoh's cruel control into the Promised Land. The same promise was given to Gideon, who was to deliver a weak and humiliated Israel from the powerfully oppressive hand of the Midianites. And the same promise was given to the eleven remaining disciples in what we call the Great Commission in Matthew 28, tied to their assignment to disciple nations.

The implications of the promised presence are staggering. God's presence requires something from us: the invasion into the impossible.

Something is always expected from us when God reveals Himself to be with us. It is a grave mistake to think the Holy Spirit is among us simply to comfort or encourage. That is a given. But He is also present to make possible the impossible task in front of us.

Updated, Practical Resource on Transforming Culture

Repackaged

This page-turning book chronicles one pastor's brush with unexplainable supernatural forces, and his reluctant journey from disbelief in the existence of demons to acceptance. More than a good detective story, this book is a compelling review of Bible teaching on warfare and evil spirits, showing how to pray for deliverance and how to protect against demonic invasion. Foreword by Dr. Neil T. Anderson.

Created for Influence calls readers to move from a spot on the sidelines to intentionally transforming the culture through intercession and action. Ford shows how sustained prayer can release kingdom influence at home and even in the government and the judicial system. It's time to join the fight, grip the heart of God in prayer, and transform history.

Includes new chapters on "Reclaiming the 7 Mountains of Influence" and "Jesus and the Marketplace." Foreword by Dutch Sheets.
