

Trusted Relationship Expert Offers Straightforward Advice Guaranteed to Rev Up Any Couple's Sex Life

- Teaches men and women to speak each other's unique language
- New York Times bestselling author, psychologist, and counselor promises that married couples' sexual relationship can significantly improve within just five days

Given enough time, stress, and kids, even the most satisfying sex life can turn ho-hum. Before long, you find that your conversations center on taking the garbage out, you only make love with the lights off, and experimenting in the bedroom means changing the color of the duvet.

Dr. Kevin Leman throws bored and frustrated couples an intimacy lifeline. In just one week, couples will learn

- why women need sex (and what stops them from wanting it)
- why men want sex (and why what's important to her is important to him too)
- how to reclaim space just for the two of them
- how to communicate better for a more intimate connection
- how to spice things up in the bedroom
- and more

Dr. Leman's candid advice comes with a guarantee that with just a little attention to these doable strategies, husbands and wives can experience the kind of exciting intimacy they long for—not only by Friday, but throughout their entire marriage. Includes a bonus section of questions and answers on how couples can improve their sexual communication.

Proven Ways to Lower Bad Cholesterol and Raise Good Cholesterol for a Longer, Healthier Life

- Cholesterol-lowering drugs are the number one prescribed drugs in America
- A retired vascular surgeon, Dr. Furman knows firsthand what cholesterol does to arteries
- Equips readers to make lifestyle changes that will significantly impact cholesterol levels in ways that no medication can

When it comes to our health, what we don't know can harm us most. Eighty-five percent of people over the age of fifty have significant blockage in the arteries of their hearts without any symptoms. Two-thirds of the time, the initial symptom is a full-blown heart attack. Doctors tell patients to watch their diet, get regular exercise, and lose weight—but they also increasingly prescribe “cholesterol lowering” drugs that patients will take every day for the rest of their lives. The problem is that a daily pill only addresses one small part of the cholesterol problem.

Dr. Furman wants readers to understand what their cholesterol numbers mean, how best to change levels of both the “lethal” LDL cholesterol and “hero” HDL cholesterol, and how to adjust their lifestyles in order to stay off of expensive medications that don't address the whole problem (and often have negative health-impacting side effects). Not only will Dr. Furman's advice make them healthier in the short term, it will also enable them to have more control over the aging process, allowing them to live longer, better lives.

Pat Williams Teaches Readers to Find Success Where Their Talents and Passions Meet

- Williams shares the one rule on which he built a storied career in sports management
- Offers readers practical tools for success and stories from sports, business, and entertainment
- Author has sold over 200,000 books and maintains a significant promotional platform

From the age of seven, Pat Williams’s greatest passion was baseball. However, after two years in the minors, he had to admit it was not his greatest talent, and his career as a professional baseball player was at a dead end. But a phenomenally successful career in sports was just beginning. When he combined his passion for sports with his greatest talents—leadership, salesmanship, and promotion—he found his success intersection.

“When your greatest talent intersects with your greatest passion,” says Williams, “you have discovered your sweet spot in life.” It’s the spot that will result in the greatest personal success and satisfaction and the greatest impact on the world. Williams shows readers how to

- identify their greatest talent
- pursue their greatest passion
- multiply their efforts through teamwork

Readers will discover how to maximize their natural gifting, focus their enthusiasm, and leverage their talent and passion into a lifetime of success.

Groundbreaking Work Applies Principles of Emotional Intelligence to Marriage

- Teaches couples how to identify emotional needs within their marriage
- Helps couples improve communication
- Authors are clinical psychologists and therapists who have led seminars around the world
- Dr. David Stoop's You Are What You Think has sold over 400,000 copies

The principles of emotional intelligence have long been applied to the business world with remarkable results. But what would happen if they were applied to that most important of relationships—marriage?

SMART Love is a system for understanding emotions—both your own and your spouse's—managing those emotions, and walking hand in hand through those situations when emotions run high. Drs. David and Jan Stoop break the book into five sections:

- Self-awareness of your emotions
- Managing your emotions
- Accountability to yourself, your spouse, and others
- Reading the other person's emotions
- Together in the land of emotions

A SMART Love inventory helps readers see where they are strong and where they need improvement, and each section includes action steps couples can take to implement what they've learned. Perfect for couples' counseling, small groups, and anyone who wants to connect with their spouse more deeply.

Proven Step-by-Step Plan for Turning around Damaged Marriages in 90 Days

REPACK

- Shows readers how to rebuild a bad marriage in just 90 days, even if only one spouse is committed to change
- Offers a step-by-step plan presented with compassion, Scripture, and personal stories to help couples turn difficult marriages into great ones
- Author is a psychologist who has been helping couples save their marriages for over twenty years

What could be good about a bad marriage? The good news is that couples can get beyond their old marriage and its destructive habits and build a brand-new one with the same spouse. And they can do it in just 90 days, even if only one spouse is committed to change.

Thousands of couples in marriages that are on the brink of divorce will never enter a therapist's office. For others, it's too late by the time they do agree to come. But for more than twenty years, David Clarke has seen marriages turn around in just three months. In I Don't Want a Divorce, he takes his practical plan and presents it using wit, Scripture, and personal stories to help couples turn difficult marriages into great ones. Whether the issue is communication, the kids, negative attitudes, or even serious sin, Clarke's personalized approach will put readers on the road to a great marriage.

EXCERPT

There can be an impact to entire communities as a result of someone responding to the prompting of the Holy Spirit—someone who wasn't seen as a preacher but just as a man who cared. God can use any available instrument if we are open to his working. . . . Some of the supernatural encounters I experienced are with people who are famous. Some are powerful and influential. And some are just like you and me. All of the encounters were divinely orchestrated and that is why I want to tell you about them. When we open ourselves to what God wants to do through us, there is no limit to the possibilities of what can happen. The ways he can reach the people who need to hear about him are truly beyond our imagination but are completely within our abilities when we allow God to lead us and show us where he would have us go.

If I had listened to those around me, I would have believed God couldn't use someone like me—but God knew differently. If I had allowed my fear to guide me, I wouldn't have been able to speak to millions—but God had other plans. God led me into his purpose for my life, and because I went, it is amazing how he has been able to do the same for others. I hope you will see in these divine encounters what it can mean for you if you listen to God when he is speaking through the people he puts in your path. You will be amazed at how he can use them to lead you to your purpose and help you fulfill it. This is what I call "Living Amazed."

Remarkable Stories of Divinely Directed Encounters Reveal God’s Ongoing Work in the World

- Personal stories reveal how God directs divine encounters to fulfill his purpose through our lives
- James Robison is one of America’s best known evangelists and most popular Christian television hosts
- LIFE Today airs nearly 1300 times per week throughout North America, in Australia, and around the world on Direct TV, Dish Network, WGN, ABC Family, DayStar, TBN, and many others

Throughout his life blessed by God, James Robison has had countless opportunities to witness clearly the power of God and his amazing grace. He has shared inspiration and insight with church leaders, ministers, presidents, entertainers, and celebrities. Millions have been inspired through his television outreach, and countless others have found relief through his ministry’s humanitarian efforts.

In this inspiring book, Robison desires to show readers that they too can witness God at work in transforming, powerful ways. His remarkable stories and biblical insights will inspire and empower readers to:

- recognize the spiritual significance of ordinary events and how God orchestrates encounters to change our lives and others’
- see God at work in and through us to make a difference in the world
- learn to live in constant holy amazement of God’s great love

God is continually working in this world, and he is using us to accomplish kingdom purposes for his glory and the benefit of all those he loves. From the improbable to the extraordinary, these “divine encounters” will inspire awe even as they leave readers looking for God’s amazing work through their own lives and relationships.

EXCERPT

A songwriter once wrote these words: "We'll travel over mountains so high, we'll go through valleys so low. Still through it all we'll find that this is the greatest journey the human heart will ever see . . . the love of God will take us far beyond our wildest dreams." Okay, I confess, that songwriter was me and the song was "The Great Adventure." Even as I wrote those words, I had already experienced higher mountains and deeper valleys than I could've ever imagined as a boy riding rollercoasters. And I certainly had no idea how much higher and deeper the journey was going to take me. I'd love to take you on some of that journey with me, if you'd like to come. While I've woven my life and my story into the songs I've written all these years, my desire has always been to tell the bigger story of God's grace and faithfulness. With my prayer being, "God, I want to know you, and I want to make you known with the gifts you have given me and the life I live," my songs have always come from the places in my journey where I've come to see more of who God is and more of my need for Him. I want to tell honest stories and sing songs about how God shows up in our "real world." So that's what my hope and prayer is for this book, as well. That as I share my journey over the mountains and through the valleys with you, you might find encouragement for your own journey and be reminded of what's true as we travel this journey together . . . between heaven and the real world.

Comforting True Stories of the Hope of Heaven

- Gives readers hope, comfort, and peace in the midst of pain
- Hospice nurse shares the remarkable stories her patients have told her of their glimpses of heaven as they were passing from this life
- New edition of this New York Times bestseller

Drawn from her decades of experience as a hospice nurse, Trudy Harris shares stories that offer an incredible glimpse at what lies beyond this world—ethereal music, colors that did not exist on earth, angels, and loved ones who have gone on before. She has been with hundreds of patients as they took their last breaths and knows the kinds of questions that both the dying and their loved ones ask: What happens when we die? What should I say to a loved one who is dying? How can I make a dying friend feel safe? The stories she shares will bring the reader comfort and peace even amidst pain.

Tender, heartbreaking, and eye-opening, this expanded edition of the New York Times bestseller offers more incredible windows into the world beyond and life after death.

EXCERPT

On April 15, 2013, the crowds that swamped the finish line for the Boston Marathon were repeating a tradition that had taken place for the previous 116 years. We all took pride in attending the world's oldest annual marathon, a public celebration of exertion and stamina.

The weather was clear and perfect for the event, and with over four hours gone since the race began, boredom and anxiety mixed for the spectators who bunched near the finish to see their friends and relatives reach the end.

By the time we were four hours and forty-eight minutes into the race, the top runners had long since finished. The best of them had been done for long enough to get back home or to their hotel, and be in the Jacuzzi by now.

But the end of the route was still packed, and there were thousands of runners still out on the course. The spectators remaining at the finish were there because we all knew at least one of the runners yet to come, and we appreciated how hard they had struggled to make the distance.

I was there with my five-year-old son, Noah, and the aunt of a friend. She was there to see her nephew finish. He was due any minute. The presence of so many inspired runners filled the air with a casual feeling of hope, while the celebratory nature of the event promoted a sense of community.

My Noah had started out the day enthused to be at the race, but being that age, he soon grew tired of waiting for the runners to finish streaming by. Instead, he took a seat on the ground at my feet and rested his back against my shins.

It was two forty-nine in the afternoon. We were both in that position when the first bomb went off.

Boston Marathon Bombing Survivor Shares How She Moved Forward with Hope

- A spectator at the 2013 Boston Marathon finish line shares her moving story of how an act of terrorism changed her life forever
- After months of trying to save her leg and enduring numerous surgeries and procedures, Rebekah made the freeing decision to amputate
- A message of faith, strength, and hope for those dealing with debilitating circumstances, loss, trauma, or fear

On April 15, 2013, Rebekah Gregory and her five-year-old son waited at the finish line of the Boston Marathon to support a friend who was running. When the blasts of terrorists' homemade bombs packed with nails and screws went off three feet away, Rebekah's legs took the brunt of the blast, protecting her son from certain death. Eighteen surgeries and sixty-five procedures later, her left leg was amputated.

Despite the extraordinary trauma she underwent and the nightmares she continues to have, Rebekah sees it as just another part of her personal journey, a journey that has led her through abuse, mistakes, and pain and into the arms of Jesus. This stirring memoir tells the story of her recovery, including her triumphant return to Boston two years later to run part of the race, and explores the peace we experience when we learn to trust God with every part of our lives—the good, the bad, and even the terrifying.

Readers will be moved by the joyous way Rebekah is determined to live her life, seeing every obstacle as part of how God forms us into the people we are meant to be. Readers will also find comfort in the message that it's not what they can or can't do that makes the difference, but rather what God, in his mercy, does through them despite it all. Life is hard, but with God all things are possible.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Rebekah Gregory is a woman and mother whose life was forever changed due to the bombings at the Boston Marathon on April 15, 2013. This act of terrorism may have claimed her leg, but it could not claim her spirit. She is now a powerful motivational speaker who encourages people all across the country with her message of faith and hope. She lives in Houston, Texas, with her son, daughter, and her college-sweetheart-turned-husband.

Anthony Flacco is a New York Times and international bestselling author with six nonfiction books and three novels to his credit. He holds an MFA in screenwriting from the American Film Institute, was selected for the Walt Disney Studios Screenwriting Fellowship, and spent a year writing for Touchstone Pictures. He lives in the Pacific Northwest.

Devotions for the Mom in the Trenches from a Mom Who Understands

REPACK

- New York Times bestselling author shares the fun, the crazy, and the mundane of motherhood
- Devotions that cut straight to the heart and will encourage moms everywhere
- Repackaged edition connects to Hatmaker's continually growing tribe

What lists, systems, and self-help books have failed to do for young moms in the trenches, Jesus can accomplish blindfolded. Yes, moms are busy, they need a break, and they'd just like a shower. But they are also strong and brilliant and have the power to move mountains. Bestselling author and speaker Jen Hatmaker takes the words and deeds of Jesus, adds the humor of a mom's observations on life, and offers messages of grace and encouragement. She shows overburdened moms forty things Jesus doesn't expect them to do on their own.

Covering areas such as worry, marriage, priorities, money, and the trap of comparison, this lively Bible teacher brings Jesus's message alive in a format geared to the short moments moms have that can be allotted to reflection. This is a devotional for the woman inside the mom—the Bible student, the learner, the world-changer.

Everything You Want Is On the Other Side of Not Giving Up

- Brief inspirational readings deliver 52 reasons to move through tough times without giving in to despair
- John Mason's signature inspirational and accessible books have sold more than 300,000 copies
- Filled with bite-sized stories, sayings, and Scripture to inspire and motivate

Everything worth doing is going to have some obstacles. Some people look at setbacks as evidence that whatever it is they've been striving for just wasn't meant to be. But according to bestselling author and master motivator John Mason, the moment most people give up is the moment of their greatest opportunity.

In this inspiring book, Mason gives readers fifty-two keys to never giving up on their dreams. He shows them how to ask the right questions when they are on the verge of quitting, how to avoid unnecessary trouble, and how to keep their energy level up in the face of setbacks. Whether readers are building a business, a family, a portfolio, or relationships, they'll find the strength and motivation to go on, break through, and claim the prize.

Now in Paper—Leading Expert on the Fantastic Journey of Parenting Middle Schoolers

- Equips parents with the tools they need to handle the conflicts, emotions, and attitude of their middle school child
- Helps parents find common ground with their kids during this critical time in the parent-child relationship

Entering middle school is like stepping onto a different planet where peer pressure, social media, and hormones can wreak havoc in your child's life and in your relationship with him or her.

But these years don't have to create chaos in your family. Parenting expert and New York Times bestselling author Dr. Kevin Leman's time-tested principles will aid parents in helping their middle schooler not only survive but thrive during these turbulent years on Planet Middle School. He shows parents how to

- understand their child's rapidly expanding world
- respond rather than react to emotional swings
- tell their child about sex (before someone else tells them their version)
- create opportunities for their child to practice selflessness and gratitude
- ensure that their kid is one who loves home and family

Middle schoolers can be a weird, unpredictable species. But with a little help from Dr. Leman, parents will be able to ride out the interstellar storm with humor and confidence.

How Do You Forgive the Unforgiveable?

Forgiveness is an essential part of being a Christian. But what do we do when confronted with the unforgiveable—an act that shakes our moral foundations to their roots, often committed by someone trusted and loved? Murder, sexual abuse, adultery—all leave lifelong wounds and all are trespasses that, through the grace of God, still can be forgiven. Dr. David Stoop compassionately guides readers along the course of heartfelt forgiveness, freeing them to apply the biblical teachings that have already changed thousands of lives. Now available in mass market.
