EXCERPT

Years of research and hundreds of conversations with men and women all over the country have formed the foundation for this book. These thirty-one common food triggers aren't just triggers. They are shackles. It's become clear that our enemy, the devil, has millions of us trapped in the bondage of unhealthy thinking and eating. I understand. My own journey from obesity to optimal health has been one that I wanted to experience in private. But God had other plans. When you find freedom and you live among captives, you can't help but want freedom for others, too.

The spiritual tug-of-war to exchange unhealthy patterns with God-honoring habits is the ultimate food fight. But I'm in your corner. More importantly, Almighty God can help you turn to a new, healthier way to live.

Through the pages of this book you will learn about external food triggers—issues like traveling, holidays, our culture's obsession with large portions, and those who try to sabotage our efforts to get healthy. We will also expose internal food triggers—factors like stress, emotional eating, loneliness, and boredom. Together, we will break free from the cycle of frustration and pain that we have been trapped in for too long. More than discovering what it takes to have a healthy body, you will receive spiritual health for your soul.

The Real-Life Guide for Healthy Food Habits

- Coauthor with Wendy Speake of the 100,000-copy seller Triggers: Exchanging Parents' Angry Reactions for Gentle Biblical Responses
- Author is a sought-after certified health coach who has experienced her own health transformation
- Author has appeared on Focus on the Family multiple times and is a regular contributor to The Better Mom, followed by 800,000 readers

How do we manage those unruly portions at restaurants? Why are we eating the leftovers from our kids' plates? How do we stop boredom munchies? As a certified health coach who has been on her own transformative health journey, Amber Lia exposes 31 common food-related struggles—based on hundreds of hours of research—that women and men face in everyday moments. Food Triggers offers the “aha” understanding of why we react the way we do as well as tangible solutions to:

- Expose the key food triggers sabotaging your health
- Exchange broken and destructive patterns for healing and God-honoring habits
- Use practical strategies for immediate action rooted in Scripture
- Break free from the cycle of reactionary eating, shame, and feelings of defeat, and walk in victory

At its root, every trigger becomes a spiritual battle, not always easily won, but with biblical truth and concrete methods applied to our everyday struggles, our everyday food triggers become areas of opportunity and victory.

Food Triggers is a perfect complement to any health plan readers may be currently using on their health journey.

90-Day Devotional to Help You Go Get What God Has Given You

- Author speaks frequently to large audiences, working alongside his father in their church and ministry
- Author is chaplain of the Dallas Cowboys and the Dallas Mavericks, and has a strong outreach to young men
- Each devo includes an opening quote, application questions, and a prayer

At some point, you have to understand your own calling and significance in the kingdom of God. How does God want to use you? Jonathan Evans uses the Old Testament leader Joshua as a model for stepping up to God's big call on your life. Before Joshua, Moses was the one who had spoken to God, performed miracles, and stood up to Pharaoh. But now Joshua had to come out to the front. So what did he do? How did he step up? And what steps can you take to seize now for yourself?

This 90-day devotional will inspire both men and women to step up into all God's calling them to do. Push aside fear and complacency in order to become something more, leading to change in your relationships, work, communities, and world.

Now is your time. If you will be steadfast and unmovable, and always abound in what God is calling you to do, you'll see that it will not be in vain. He has a plan, a destiny for your life.

Wife, mother of 5, and part-time family practice doctor. The world is shouting at us to be more. Be the BEST. Strive. Achieve. Overachieve. Never stop pushing. After seven years of living married to an alcoholic and drug addict, Mikala was drowning in motherhood all while finishing medical school and her residency. A hard, messy, gritty, lovely little life.

Mikala's moving and beautiful writing takes readers through her transparent story with an invitation. Lay down the endless chase for perfection, see your perfect, loving God amidst the pain and chaos, and live a beautiful, ordinary little life exactly as it is. Today.

This book is a voice of radiant hope and grounding contentment for the strivers and perfectionists spread thin. Not for achieving more, but for embracing who we already are. Loved, imperfect, mostly ordinary, and so very on purpose.

EXCERPT

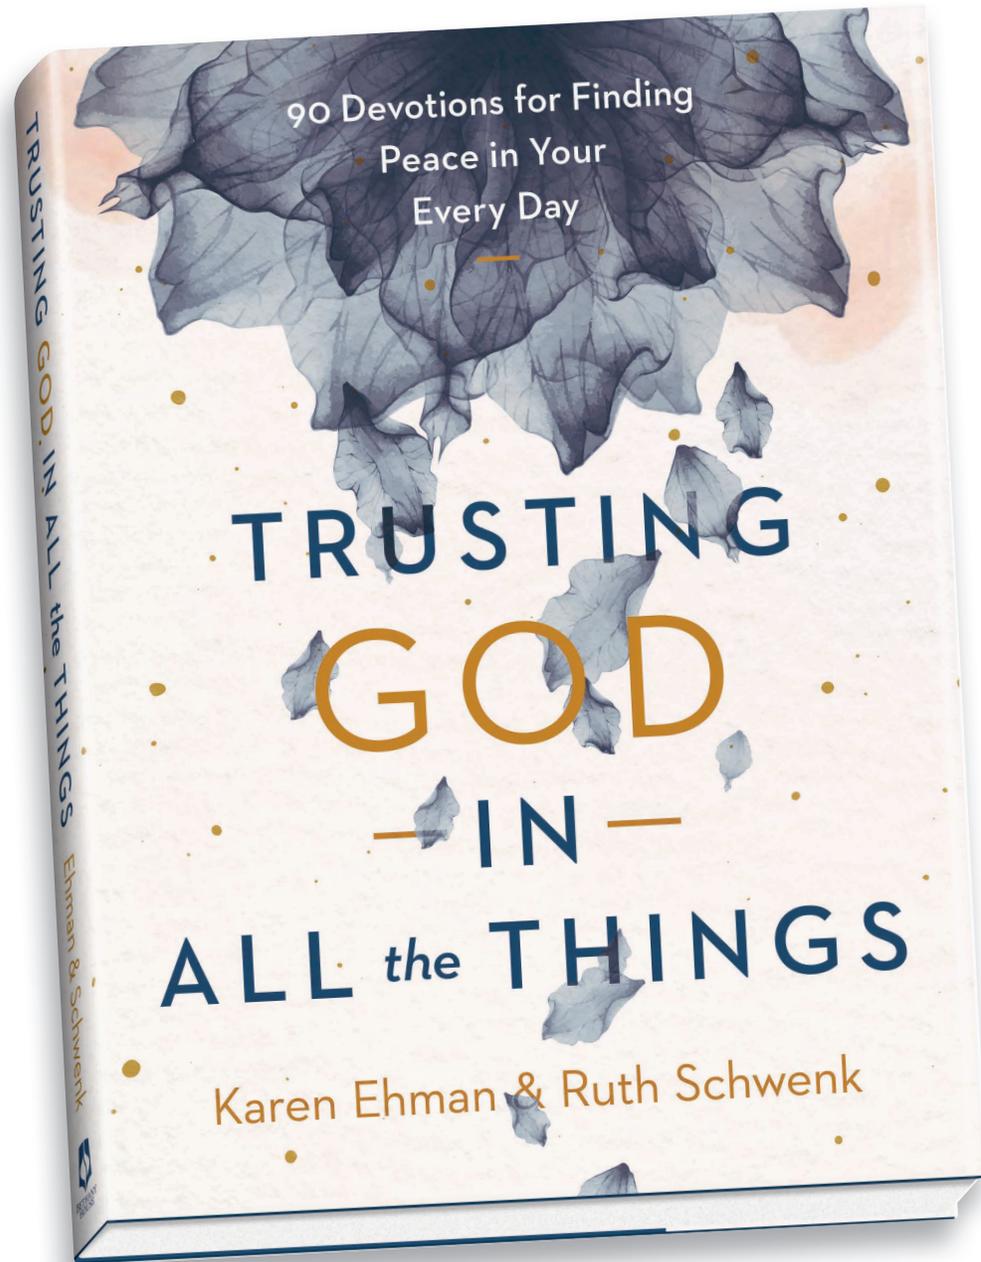

What has you overwhelmed right now? Is there something that seems too big for you? Stress can feel like an invisible press we're caught in.

I felt it with every miscarriage. It reared its ugly head and tightened its clutches when my husband was diagnosed with cancer. I felt it with every job interview rejection. We've all felt the overwhelming "pressing and squeezing" of life's circumstances.

And so, it might encourage you, like it did me, to be reminded that even Jesus faced situations that were overwhelming. He too felt the suffocating and exhausting effects of stress leading up to his death on the cross. Shortly before Jesus' arrest and betrayal, he withdrew to a place called the Mount of Olives (Luke 22:39). In a garden called Gethsemane, Jesus was overcome with a nearly crushing stress.

It was there, Luke tells us, that Jesus was in "anguish" (Luke 22:44). This was far more than not feeling great. This was a deep and intense grief. It was an immense weight. Anticipating his death was a gut-wrenching sorrow and pain almost too unbearable to handle. The mention of sweat like drops of blood is meant to show us that Jesus had reached the limits of his human suffering.

All this he was enduring, for us. For me. For you. And of course, for the sake of doing his Father's will.

Face Your Days with Confident Calm

No matter your age or season of life, a woman’s heart and mind are pulled in many directions. Often various roles require attention to tasks and people, leaving little time for yourself and creating a feeling of anxiousness in your mind and hurry in your soul.

Our unsettled and often-frenzied hearts crave a calm that can only be found through a refreshing encounter with God each day. Trusting God in All the Things provides the plan for connecting with your Creator to experience peace and gain a renewed vision so you can face your days with a confident calm.

In this devotional, each of the 90 entries is tethered to key Scriptures and includes a real-life story, a biblical teaching point, and reflective questions to contemplate throughout the day, driving home the main takeaway of the section and enabling lasting life change. Issues that will be addressed include

- anxiety
- anger
- disappointment
- rejection
- past regrets
- finding purpose
- discovering joy in the mundane
- decision-making
- priority-setting
- and more

If life’s circumstances are threatening to overwhelm you, causing anxiety to well up in your mind, come connect with Jesus, the true calm for your troubled soul.

Hope for Leaders Amidst Drought Conditions

- Co-authors of Mission Drift, a 2015 ECPA Book of the Year
- Unique perspective for Christian leaders and ministers
- New from the leaders of HOPE International

Around the world, discouragement erodes the vitality of transformational organizations. Visionary leaders succumb to cynicism. Zealous advocates give up. Seasoned ministers coast as their passion for the cause grows cold.

Grounded in stories from the field, research, and biblical insight, this book is an invitation for followers of Jesus to sustain hope in long-term service. It's about moving past false idealism and cynicism into a realistic, resilient, and enduring expectancy that looks upward to God and outward to others.

You will gain encouragement through the study in Jeremiah woven throughout and how the Lord prophetically met and sustained him during his lifetime of service in adverse circumstances. Glean further inspiration by reading the stories of Christian leaders from around the world—Zimbabwe, Haiti, Guatemala, Poland, Palestine, the Philippines, India, Zambia, Lebanon. This is a moment when we need the global Church's perspective. Amid reports of leaders who have crashed and burned, this book highlights unsung heroes and will help to restore hope as you endure in service to God and others.
