

The Perfect Guide for Grandparents to Create Meaningful Family Connections

- There are nearly 70 million grandparents in the United States
- Yates is an internationally known speaker, blogger with Club31Women, and an author of 15 books with more than 300,000 copies sold
- Filled with stories, ideas, and practical resources for planning a special time with your grandchildren

In a world where our families are more scattered than ever, true and lasting family connections are hard to forge and even harder to maintain—and they don't happen by accident. For grandparents who long to create a close-knit bond in their family, popular speaker and parenting expert Susan Alexander Yates has a revolutionary new book.

Cousin Camp is an inspiring, practical book that outlines how grandparents can plan and host a camp. Grandmother to 21 grandchildren, Yates has been creating cousin camps and family camps for years. Now she passes on what she's learned so you can help your children and grandchildren develop meaningful, lasting connections with each other—and with you!

Full of specific, practical ideas and hilarious stories, this book contains everything you need to know from initial planning (who, when, and where) to a daily schedule to specific ways to build friendships among family members. Yates also includes plenty of ideas for family camps and reunions to draw everyone closer.

True Joy Can Be Yours, Even in Struggle

REPACK

- Kay Warren's books have sold more than 225,000 copies
- Cofounder of Saddleback Church and frequent speaker nationally and internationally
- Accompanying DVD and study guide make this perfect for small group study

On April 5, 2013, Kay Warren's life changed forever. That was the day she lost her son Matthew to suicide. Most of us will not face anything so devastating, but every single day we will face something that threatens our attempts to live with joy. Health problems, financial worries, marriage issues, loneliness, unresolved relational conflicts, anxiety about our nation or our world, stress over how our kids are turning out. In those moments, how do we choose joy over fear, apathy, or despair?

In Choose Joy, Kay shares the path to experiencing soul-satisfying joy no matter what you're going through. She helps you send your spiritual roots deep into the soil of God's love so that you can develop convictions and certainties about him that will become the source of your strength when happiness isn't enough.

"The only thing that would allow me to survive the loss of my son was what I knew and believed about God . . . and joy," says Kay. Let her lead you toward true and lasting joy in your life.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Kay Warren cofounded Saddleback Church with her husband, Rick Warren, in Lake Forest, California, in 1980. After the death of her son, Matthew, who lived with serious mental illness for most of his life, she founded Saddleback's Hope for Mental Health Initiative as a way to support individuals and family members of loved ones with mental illness and suicidal ideation. The Initiative also trains others in the faith community how to launch or expand existing mental health ministries.

Kay is a board member of the National Action Alliance for Suicide Prevention and is active in mental health/suicide prevention efforts in Orange County, California. She is the author of Sacred Privilege, Choose Joy, and Say Yes to God, and coauthor of Foundations, a popular systematic theology course used by churches worldwide. Her children are Amy and Josh, and Matthew (who is in heaven), and she has five grandchildren.

EXCERPT

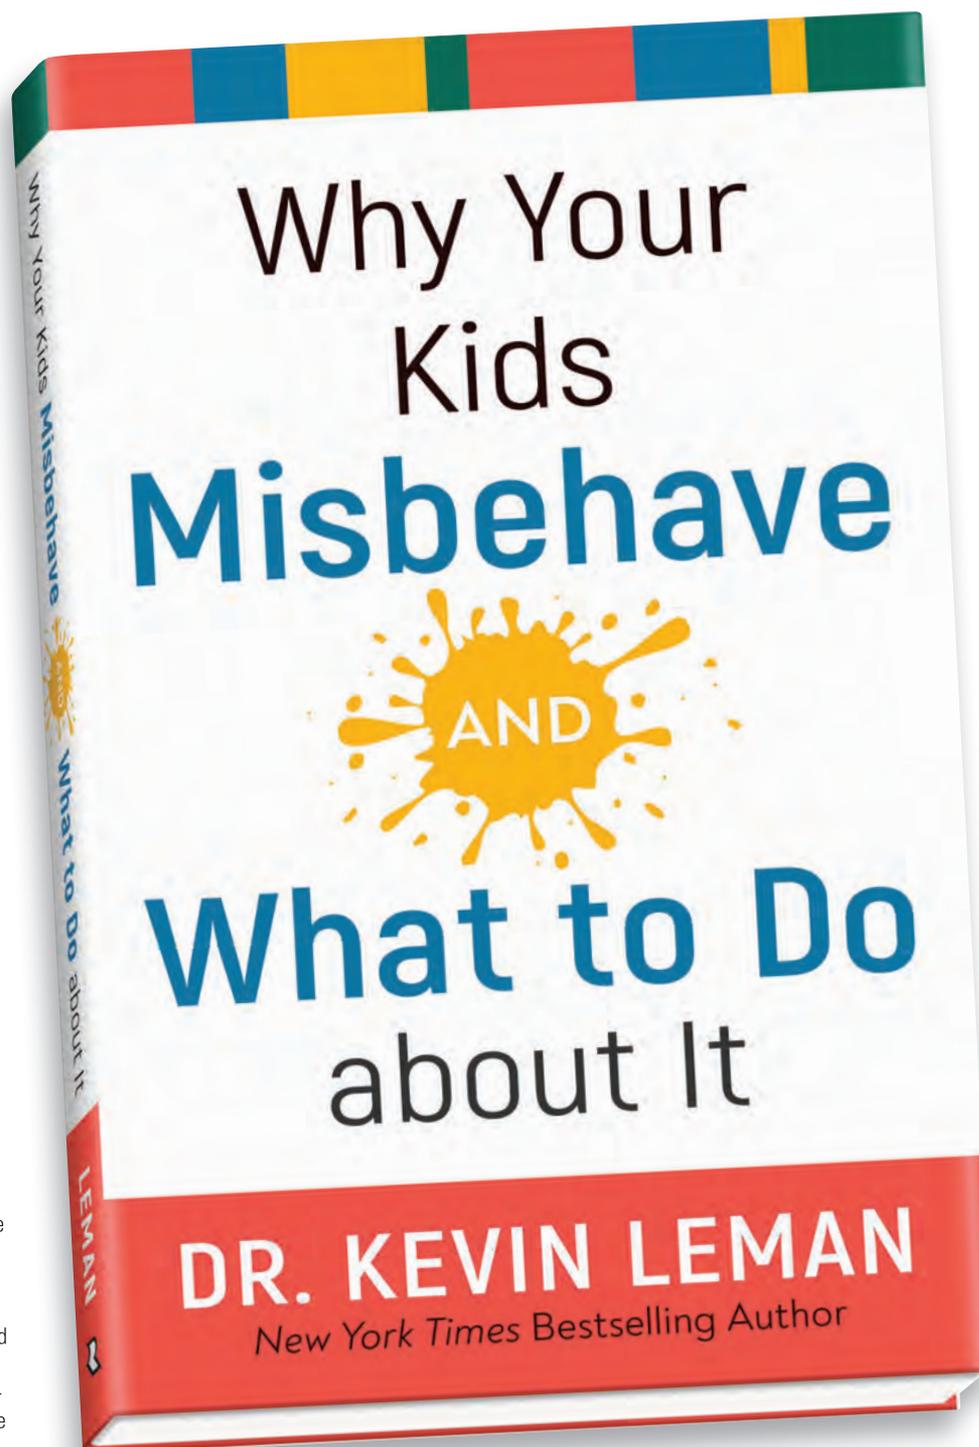

Do any of these sound familiar?

- Taking your kid's guff and sass is all part of an average day
- Naptime means you and your toddler, or he won't rest.
- After you cook her favorite dinner, she changes her mind.
- You can predict the sibling fights—the order, the exact phrases, and even the timing before your youngest yells, "Mom, she's picking on me!"
- You've become a WWE pro just to get your kids in bed. Problem is, they don't stay there.
- Your mood swings match your adolescent drama queen's.
- "But I can't do it—it's too hard!" is a well-worn mantra in your house.
- When you fight, your child wins, because you're the one who feels guilty.
- You don't even wince at slamming bedroom doors anymore.
- You have one child you have to placate or tip-toe around.
- You're better at doing your child's chores than he is.
- She has nothing to wear, and it's your fault.
- He's pitched so many fits in Walmart, you're too embarrassed to go there anymore.
- You have to lean over nearly perpendicular to the floor to hear her whisper.
- Your teenager thinks gaming is an inalienable right that exists before homework.
- Your four-year-old just Tweeted.

If anything above rings a bell, you need this book. I'll reveal not only why kids misbehave, but how you can turn that behavior around with practical, no-nonsense strategies that really work . . . and are a long-term win for both of you.

By the end of this book, you'll be smiling at the transformation in yourself, your child, and your home.

Guaranteed.

Timely Answers to the Question All Parents Ask

- Dr. Leman is the New York Times bestselling author of more than 60 books
- He is former consulting psychologist to Good Morning America and has appeared on FOX & Friends, Huckabee, The 700 Club, Hallmark's Home & Family, Today, and more
- Dr. Leman's podcast is consistently one of the top 20 parenting podcasts on iTunes

Tantrums. Talking back. Throwing toys or food. Meltdowns. Slamming doors. Kids know just how to push your buttons. You've tried all sorts of methods, but nothing seems to work.

That's because you're not addressing the root reasons for why kids misbehave, says international parenting expert Dr. Kevin Leman. In this book, he reveals exactly why kids misbehave and how you can turn that behavior around with practical, no-nonsense strategies that really work . . . and are a long-term win for both of you.

With his signature wit and wisdom, Dr. Leman helps you see through your child's eyes, revealing why they do what they do, who they learn their behaviors from, and why they continue behaving badly. He identifies the stages of misbehavior, where your child is on the spectrum, and how to not only avoid escalating bad behavior but get on the front end and turn it around for good.

By the end of this book, you'll be smiling at the transformation in yourself, your child, and your home. Guaranteed.

EXCERPT

Make him believe you like to be with him.

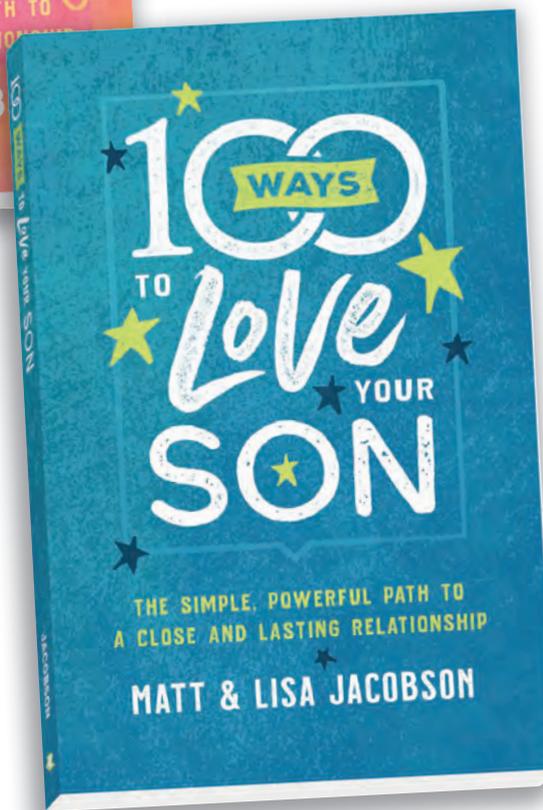

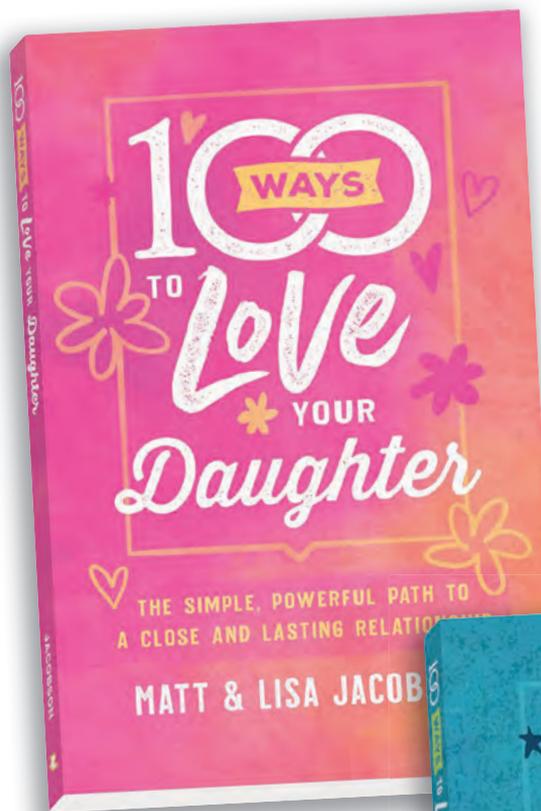

My own father thought I was an awesome young man. He told everybody. There was only one problem—he never told me. All the way into my late twenties, I believed my dad didn't really like being with me.

Many parents think their kids are downright amazing, and they spend a lot of time talking them up to other people. But for your son to know and believe it's true, you're going to have to do more than tell your friends how awesome you think he is.

The power in a young boy's/young man's thinking is what he believes, not what is true. Loving your son in this way requires you to demonstrate, in ways that are meaningful to him, that you genuinely enjoy being with him.

You could start by verbalizing to your son at a young age. Or even if you're coming at this when your son is a bit older—even if he's a young adult—you can start by saying, "Son, I really like being with you." Just say the words. Many sons have never heard such affirming words from their father. Let your son hear those words come out of your mouth.

Another simple, practical way is to invite him to come along with you on one of the many outings parents take in the normal course of living. An invitation is such a positive way of saying, "I really like being with you."

A Beautiful Repackage from Counseling and Marriage Experts

- Teaches couples how to identify emotional needs within their marriage and improve communication
- Authors are clinical psychologists and therapists who have led seminars around the world
- Dr. David Stoop's You Are What You Think has sold more than 500,000 copies

When it comes to a successful, satisfying marriage, it's not about how many workshops you've attended, how many counseling sessions you've experienced together, or which conflict resolution tools you've been taught. What it really all comes down to is emotions—understanding your own and your partner's, and then walking hand in hand through those inevitable situations where emotions run high.

In The Emotionally Healthy Marriage, Drs. David and Jan Stoop take you and your spouse through a 5-step process of developing the emotional intelligence you need to stay strong and stay together. With personal inventories that help you discover where you are doing well and where you need improvement, as well as practical action steps you can take now to implement what you've learned, this book is perfect for couples, counselors, and pastors.

Many of us believe we are saved by grace—but for too many, that's the last time grace defines our life. Instead of walking in grace every day, we strive to be good, believing that the Christian life means hard work with an unshakable good mood.

When we fail to measure up to our own impossible standards, we hide behind our good-girl masks, determined to keep our weakness a secret.

In Grace for the Good Girl, Emily P. Freeman invites women to let go of the try-hard life and realize that in Christ we are free to receive from him rather than constantly try to achieve for him.

With an open hand and a whimsical style, Emily encourages women to move from hiding behind masks and do-good performances to the freedom of a life hidden with Christ in God.

PRAISE FOR LISA BEVERE

Praise for Adamant

"This book is profound in its wisdom, yet deeply personal. Lisa is a gifted writer and a trusted friend who will guide us to a rock-solid understanding of our true identity in Christ."—Sheila Walsh, author of It's Okay Not to Be Okay

"Important. Weighty. Convicting. Lisa Bevere is relentless in her conviction to stand on and for the Truth..."—Louie and Shelley Giglio, founders of Passion Conferences

"Lisa writes with confidence, poise, and grace as she leads you on a spiritual journey toward unshakable truth."—Craig and Amy Groeschel, pastors of Life.Church; authors of From This Day Forward

"Adamant combines Lisa Bevere's undeniable passion, vulnerability, and divine gift as wind to set each reader free."—Sarah Jakes Roberts, author of Don't Settle for Safe

Praise for Without Rival

"Lisa's newest book is such a treasure. It's basically the literary equivalent of God putting his hands on both sides of our face, turning our attention toward him, and then saying slowly and firmly, 'I love you.'"—Lisa Harper, author and Bible teacher

"In a world obsessed with competition and comparison, this book is a must for every mother, daughter, leader, and friend. It's time we joined hands instead of comparing what's in them. It's time for celebrating one another instead of tolerating. We are without rival, so let's make room for everyone to thrive."—Charlotte Gambill, lead pastor of LIFE Church, Bradford, UK

"Without Rival is a brilliant wake-up call for women of all ages. Lisa's message that we are uniquely loved and called by God is so needed. I love her passion and energy that leap off of every page."—Alli Worthington, author of Breaking Busy: How to Find Peace and Purpose in a World of Crazy

New York Times Bestselling Author Offers Wisdom for Living as Strong, Confident Women

- From a New York Times bestselling author whose books have sold more than 1 million copies
- Author has combined social media reach of 1.7 million
- Messenger International has a combined social media reach of over 3 million and their podcast has over 6 million downloads

There is a role unique to women that we abandon easily. We live near each other, but not with each other—and not for each other. We don't want to intrude or judge and, maybe, we don't want to see each other truly succeed. And the world is happy with this unhappy state for women—one that pushes us to conform to a pattern of distrust, disengagement, and competition. It's no wonder we've lost ourselves, and our way.

In her most personal, powerful book yet, New York Times bestselling author Lisa Bevere offers a catalytic, transformative vision for women of a different way to live—one that embraces the presence of a godmother—the older, wiser women you can go to and learn from, the strong women who partner with us through life. And everyone needs one! Drawing from her own life, biblical women, and the world of fairy tales, Lisa will show you how to transform what you have into what God wants you to have, push you forward during seasons of doubt, and love you enough to speak truth about God's larger, expansive view of your life. Lisa's candid, compassionate words are your best first step to living as a daughter of God, surrounded by strong relationships and confidence in your calling.

The Widespread Impact of Addiction— and a Hopeful Path to Recovery

- 25% of the US population suffers from some type of addiction
- Authors are therapists with decades of clinical and real-life experience
- Authors speak to audiences around the country and coach and train mental health professionals and other leaders

Between alcohol, illegal drugs, prescription drugs, pornography, gambling, and eating disorders, fully 25% of the population of the United States is addicted to something. Those addictions are taking a massive physical, emotional, spiritual, and financial toll on individuals, families, and communities. The problem can feel insurmountable. But there is a solution, at once ancient and supported by the latest in neuroscientific research.

With an honest assessment of the facts, yet always reaching out toward hopeful solutions, counselors Chip Dodd and Stephen James explain what addiction really is, how it works, and why it is so damaging to our hearts, souls, minds, and relationships. They then take us beyond mere coping techniques that allow us to function to the real solution—restoring our broken relationship with our Creator so that we can rediscover how to live fully the way we were created to live. Each chapter includes the personal story of a recovering addict, told from the addict’s point of view. The authors also include a list of books, organizations, workshops, and treatment centers people can turn to for help along the road to lasting recovery.

Tapping into the Power of God
When You Need It Most

What do you pray when times get tough? When you're stressed or depressed, when life is overwhelming or disappointing, when you feel like giving up? In these challenging times you need to pray with wild hope, says Jackie M. Johnson. With encouraging stories, Scriptures, and prayers, Johnson shows readers how to pray for focus, wisdom, confidence, courage, grace, strength, meaning, and much more. Conveniently structured so that readers can go directly to the chapter that addresses their particular situation, this book will be a lifeline to peace for those who need God's touch.

You Have the Power to Break Free
from the Chains That Hold You Back

Why are so many of us fighting the same old battles instead of living the life God intends for us? It's time to learn how to use the weapons God has already provided for us to find success in every area of life. Unpacking the full armor of God described in Ephesians 6, Linda Evans Shepherd offers insight into why we feel resistance when we try to find and follow our purpose and shows us how to break through our daily spiritual battles to live a victorious life now.
