1. You've encountered difficult circumstances of your own while writing this book. How did those experiences impact your writing?
2. In A Woman's Guide to Hearing God's Voice you retell the stories of several biblical characters. Why did you choose these particular ones?
3. In the retelling of Jacob's struggle with God, you invite the reader to "wrestle with God." What do you mean by this?
4. You say that at one point in his life, Abraham's problem wasn't hearing God's voice, but rather trusting what he heard. Please explain.
5. Regarding God's promises to us, you say, "There comes a time when I have to turn my attention from the promise and settle it on the Person who gave it." Why is this is important?
6. Throughout A Woman's Guide to Hearing God's Voice you emphasize the importance of reading the Bible. Why?
7. One chapter is titled, "Let God Define Good." How does our definition of good sometimes differ from God's?
8. You say that one of the ways we learn to hear God's voice is to obey God's word. Please explain.
9. Has there ever been a time in your life when you had a hard time hearing God's voice?
10. You talk about how, like Jacob, you have wrestled with God to receive a blessing while you were walking through your own personal valley. What have you learned about the importance of surrender as you have done this?
11. Leighann, how would you encourage the listener who is stuck in a pit and has trouble hearing God's voice and trusting in His promises?
